Empty flats are a real disgrace

I'M very concerned about the dilapidated condition of Cambridge House, an empty block of flats on Artillery Place in Woolwich. It's been left to generate so much rubbish, muck, mess and foliage and happens to be right next to a popular bus route where people will be getting off for the Olympics, only to be greeted by the eyesore. It's supposed to belong to Greenwich Living, who are clearly not doing anything about it. It's a disgrace.

Mrs Avery, Charlton

● THIS building is owned by Hyde Housing Association, who have proposals to redevelop the entire site to provide a mixed tenure affordable housing scheme. Unfortunately, the site security provided by Hyde has regularly been breached, therefore their dialogue with planners includes proposals to demolish the existing building at the earliest possible opportunity. In the meantime, Hyde are in the process of arranging for the site to be tidied as a matter of urgency. Hyde have advised Royal Greenwich that they anticipate building works to commence in spring, 2013, with the entire redevelopment completed by late March, 2015.

Weedy welcome to the borough...

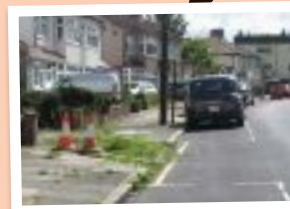

IT was good to read about the borough getting a thorough clean-up in Greenwich Time, but what about one of the first/last roads in the borough - Mervyn Avenue? The weeds and high grasses growing through the pavement gaps and kerbs are now looking ridiculous. (see attached photograph).

By contrast the Bexley Borough roads only 50 metres away are clean, tidy and the grass verges trimmed. The situation was reported to the council a few weeks ago, but nothing has been done about it. It seems obvious that all resources are concentrating on the areas hosting the Olympic Games while other streets are being completely neglected.

Stephen Brooks, Eltham

● WE agree that the weed treatment on Mervyn Avenue has not been effective. Over 1,000 kilometres of footways have been treated with a tried and tested weed-killer. This programme covers the whole borough and, in most roads, the results have been good. In general, the weeds have died within a couple of weeks and been removed. We're sorry that Mervyn Avenue was one of the small number of roads where this was not the case. The area received additional treatments in July and many of the weeds will have been removed as we go to print. In order to stop the weeds growing back, further treatments will be carried out this month, as well as later in the year. We will continue to monitor the contractor's performance carefully.

...and I hope we get our Common track back!

I HAVE just returned from a depressing walk across Woolwich Common from Herbert Road to the QE Hospital. The natural track has been replaced with what can only be described as compacted rubbish complete with litter dumped in an arguably straight line. What is the thinking behind this poor quality scheme and use of such substandard materials on what was once common open natural ground? I dearly hope this new "path" is only temporary and will be completely recovered when the rest of the Olympic structures are removed from the Common by whoever is responsible for the installation of this debris.

John French, Shooters Hill

● A TEMPORARY path was installed to provide wheelchair access across the common as a result of the closure of Ha Ha Road. It is planned to remove the path as part of the reinstatement work after the Games that will see Woolwich Common returned to its former condition.

Olympics traffic and transport - your weekly news

Parking restricted

RESTRICTED parking will begin in the royal borough this Friday (July 27), for the Olympic and Paralympic Games.

The plans are designed to prevent roads around the three Olympic venues becoming clogged with spectators' vehicles - while at the same time enabling local people to carry on life as normally as possible.

More than 22,000 people have applied to Games organisers LOCOG for Games time parking permits. Existing visitor parking vouchers within the areas involved will not be valid during the Games.

However, a printing error means that some visitor parking permits which state 'Existing CPZ' are incorrect. These are being replaced with permits which specify a designated parking zone.

Residents should automatically receive a letter and replacement permits from LOCOG by Wednesday (July 25).

If not residents should call the LOCOG 'check it' number on 0300 111 2012.

Signs have been going up on lampposts in the areas affected, warning that vehicles parked illegally may be towed away. This has caused concern with some residents who were worried the signs

Boroughwide zone comes into force would invalidate their parking permits. The royal borough is reassuring residents that the warning signs do not affect anyone with a valid Royal Borough of Greenwich parking permit or a special games time temporary parking permit.

Residents, businesses, and other people who might need parking permits for visitors, and who have not yet applied, should do so quickly via LOCOG's special website at www.2012gamesparkingpermits.com

People will be able check their postcode to see if they live or work in a restricted parking area during Games-time and find out how to apply for a permit. Alternatively people can call the 'check it' line on 0300 111 2012.

WARNING SIGNS: new road signs have been put up around the no parking event zones

One way road

WESTBOUND: traffic in Greenwich town centre now travels in a clockwise gyratory system

THE new temporary one-way system in Greenwich town centre, implemented to help Olympics traffic to flow more smoothly, went live yesterday (July 23).

The royal borough's Games lanes, which give priority to athletes and officials, will come into effect from tomorrow (July 25). Both the A102 and a short section of Shooters Hill Road east of the Sun in the Sands pub at Blackheath, will be affected. Other sections of the A2 will also have special lanes for Games traffic.

On Friday the new parking controlled zones will begin operation.

Greenwich now has a clockwise gyratory system, using Greenwich High Road westbound only, Norman Road northbound only, Creek Road eastbound only and then one-ways in College Approach - which is reduced in width, King William Walk and Nelson Road. This one-way system will be in place until Monday, September 9.

Greenwich Church Street is closed to traffic, and there is no right turn for vehicles coming out of the side roads along Greenwich High Road, including Stockwell Street, Royal Hill, Greenwich South Street and Langdale Road.

Road closures are also now in place in both Ha Ha Road and Repository Road in Woolwich. Buses are being diverted, and a new temporary bus service is running from Chislehurst through Eltham to access the Queen Elizabeth Hospital.

The temporary road changes have been drawn up by Games organisers LOCOG after taking account of feedback from residents and businesses. They were agreed by the royal borough after checking that they balanced local needs against the smooth running of the Games.

All set to go

THOUSANDS of royal borough pupils are looking forward to the school trip of a lifetime - to the Olympic and Paralympic Games!

Schools across Royal Greenwich have been awarded free tickets to Olympic and Paralympic events through their involvement in the Get Set network - the official London 2012 education programme.

The schools have worked to promote the Olympic values of respect, excellence and friendship, and the Paralympic values of courage, determination, inspiration and equality. They've incorporated sporting and cultural events and activities across the curriculum with support from Get Set.

Event tickets for a range of disciplines - from basketball to weightlifting and wrestling to paralympic athletics - have been distributed to schools.

Cherry Orchard primary school in Charlton was delighted to receive tickets to Olympic volleyball and to Paralympic athletics.

The school was inspired by London 2012, and the Olympics and Paralympics have been incorporated into the curriculum with pupils creating a London 2012-themed event for the school's sports day.

Jan Beames, executive headteacher, welcomed the tickets provided through Get Set. She told GT: "It is a fantastic opportunity for our pupils to look outwards and to be inspired by the commitment and dedication of the world's best athletes."

The John Roan School in Maze Hill has been allocated 194 tickets, with some for the equestrian events in Greenwich Park and for shooting at the Royal Artillery Barracks in Woolwich. Tickets were awarded to pupils who have upheld the Olympic and Paralympic values.

Fourteen-year-old Kate Russ is going to be watching the equestrian event and said: "It is a privilege to be able to attend such an amazing, once-in-a-lifetime event."

Fellow pupil Leighvi Pilcher, also 14, will be going to the Olympic football at Wembley. He said: "I'm honoured to be part of such a historic event."

Councillor Jackie Smith, Royal Greenwich's cabinet member for children's services, said: "I am pleased that so many schools in Royal Greenwich have received tickets through their involvement in the Get Set network. This is a great reward for the pupils who have put so much time and effort into learning about and supporting the Olympic and Paralympic values."

THOUSANDS of the royal borough's youngest citizens are all set to go the Games. Some have won tickets to the events while others have Courses for 2012 horses...

YOUNG designers weren't horsing around when they were asked to create a sculpture to help 'dress' the Olympic equestrian cross-country course.

Scores of youngsters entered a LOCOG design competition, and last Tuesday they unveiled the winning entry in Greenwich Park. Pupils from Alderwood, Timbercroft and Invicta primary schools went along with students from the John Roan secondary school to see their specially placed feature made of plywood and flexi ply. The display represents iconic buildings around the borough such as the Thames Barrier and The O2 arena.

The schools worked with Ravensbourne design students to incorporate their ideas into the final structure on the field.

During the unveiling they

DESIGNERS OF THE FUTURE: Timbercroft pupils show their part of the sculpture to Jonathan Edwards were treated to a tour of the course and told about the different materials used to build the arena. British triple jumper Jonathan Edwards joined the tour and the group met British equestrian player Richard Meade who won gold for Great Britain in the Munich games of 1972. Eleven-year-old Shakira Hashemi from Timbercroft primary said: "I was excited when we were asked to design something for the Olympics. I researched on the computer and decided to choose the River Thames as my theme and the view from it. I feel shocked that our work is actually going to be on display for the world to see."

John Roan pupil, Sebastian Heslim-Reese, 14, said: "For my design I used a tree with a dome placed on top of it with the crane spikes coming through the top. We went to Ravensbourne and it was fun to see the ideas come to life in a 3D format. I think it's cool that the Olympics are taking ideas from local schools and communities." Cross-country course designer Sue Benson told GT: "The children's piece is amazing, really significant to the area. With the rest of the course trail I've tried to make each jump fit comfortably with the views and history of the park by using the landscape around it. Greenwich is a fantastic venue and it's going to be a magnificent event because this site is so beautiful and unique."

TALENTED young people from royal borough schools will take centre stage to perform for the world in the opening and closing ceremonies of the London 2012 Games.

Scores of Greenwich pupils have been selected from thousands who auditioned, to be part of the 15,000-strong cast entertaining a worldwide audience. They include young people from Crown Woods secondary school and Sherington, Heronsgate and Nightingale primary schools who are taking part in the Olympic opening ceremony, while those from the John Roan secondary school are set to help celebrate the end of the Games as part of the Paralympic closing ceremony.

Since their selection in May, pupils have been working to ensure the performances, to be shown in front of audiences of 80,000 in the Olympic stadium and an expected TV audience of four billion, are unforgettable.

The Olympic opening ceremony, titled 'Isles of Wonder', has been to the Games

chosen to play a part in the opening or closing ceremonies. And one group has even design a jump for the equestrian events. As the end of term approaches, they're looking forward to the most exciting summer holiday ever...

RINGS OF CONFIDENCE: Heronsgate pupils form the Olympic rings in celebration of their role in the Games masterminded by award-winning film directors Danny Boyle and Stephen Daldry and will feature 37 pupils from Year 7 and 8 from Crown Woods in the UK's biggest ever live event.

Although they have all been sworn to secrecy as to what they'll be doing, 13-year-old Courtney Connolly let on to GT: "The rehearsals are going well, everyone's having fun - we all want more rehearsals."

For classmate Ryan Heselden, also aged

13, the best bit is being able to share the experience: "The most exciting part of being in the ceremony is being with my friends for such a once in a lifetime event."

Younger pupils from Heronsgate primary school, which had 29 children selected from Years 3 and 4, are looking forward to being seen by royals as well as those around the planet. Alfie Spencer, aged eight, added: "I'm really excited about being in front of the Queen." Eight-year-old Hayley Weyman said: "I'm really excited about the opening ceremony performance and everyone watching and being on TV."

The Olympic opening ceremony is scheduled to be televised on July 27 from 9pm. The closing ceremony, which includes a handover from one host city to the next and the extinguishing of the Olympic flame, will be on August 12. The Paralympics begin on August 29 and the closing ceremony is on September 9.

PUPILS from two Royal Greenwich schools will be part of a Guard of Honour for athletes making their way into the Olympic Stadium for the London 2012 Olympic Games opening ceremony.

Young people from Woodhill Primary school and Woolwich Polytechnic secondary school have been invited to join pupils from 250 schools across the UK in lining the route from the Olympic Village to the Olympic Stadium.

The schools have been selected to take part in the Guard of Honour by London 2012 organisers because of their commitment to living the Olympic and Paralympic values and incorporating them into their school lives and curriculum.

The pupils will display banners they have created to show support for each of the 204 competing teams. The eight participating pupils from Woodhill primary will be holding banners welcoming the team from Trinidad and Tobago.

Headteacher Graham Gibson said: "This group of children have been selected because they have each displayed the Olympic values at school. They will be great representatives for Woodhill where we believe in celebrating the achievements of others whatever their country of origin."

Eight boys and two teachers from Woolwich Poly will be supporting Taiwan and are making their banners as part of projects for humanities and art.

Year 9 student Netane Jitoko Seva known as 'JT' is in the school's athletics and rugby teams. The vice-form captain said: "I am very proud and honoured to have been asked to be involved in this event, and represent the school at this event. I am very excited and eager for the day to get here as I am looking forward to it very much".

Year 10 pupil and prefect Abdul Karim Ibrahim said: "We've been inspired by the Olympics and have started teaching unique sports such as handball and table tennis which has encouraged everyone to get involved in sports".

Recently received figures for Key Stage 2 - the tests in English and Maths taken by eleven year olds before they leave for secondary school - show that Royal Greenwich pupils are achieving well above the national average.

Last year's results were the best ever for the royal borough - but provisional figures provided by the Department for Education indicate that Royal Greenwich pupils have performed even better.

Overall 85 per cent of the borough's 11 -year-olds are achieving the 'expected standard' in English and Maths, compared to 78 per cent last year which was higher than the national average of 74 per cent.

For children reaching an above average level, the rate has risen from 21 per cent last year to 31 per cent - 10 per cent above the national average.

Cllr Jackie Smith the royal borough's cabinet member for children's services, said: "These results are a reflection of the strong partnership between the royal borough, school leaders, teachers, pupils and parents. They are also proof that our primary school improvement strategies are working."

Woolwich Polytechnic has been given an early birthday present as it looks forward to its centenary

The boys school is the first secondary in the country to receive a new schools award.
The Exceptional School award is a quality mark of excellence among outstanding schools and is presented by the Best Practice Network, a group of education experts which advises schools.

"The award is something that schools must be invited to apply for.

We were invited for our exceptional OFSTED reports and our many publicised achievements," said co-headteacher Tim Plumb.

The school in Hutchins Road, Thamesmead, is one of only three in the country to receive the award launched earlier this year.

Mr Plumb told GT: "It is down to a combination of hardworking students and a very talented and committed team of staff that work hard and have high ambitions.
In some schools you have people that go the extra mile, but at Woolwich Poly everyone goes the extra mile."

Year 10 student Abhyas Giri said:
"The teachers are always pushing us and motivating us to do more and push ourselves."

Fellow Year 10 pupil Adam Adebiyi added: "It is great being from a school where pupils have Brooklands, in Medebourne Close, is now classed as 'outstanding' in all its five inspection categories, including quality of teaching, the behaviour and safety of pupils, and their achievements.

Ofsted inspectors rated the school as needing special measures four years ago. Just one year later, it had improved and was judged 'satisfactory'. And now it has achieved the top grades following a two-day inspection in May.

The Ofsted inspectors said: "This is an outstanding school. Senior leaders, members of the governing body and staff successfully drive lasting enhancements to the quality of the school's work. They ensure the school continues to improve swiftly and meets ambitious targets. Since the previous inspection, pupils' attainment has risen sharply and is above average.

"Pupils have exceptionally positive attitudes to learning. They behave outstandingly well in lessons and around the school because adults make their expectations consistently clear and provide excellent role models.

"Pupils feel extremely safe in school and have a very clear understanding about keeping themselves safe from

Award for well-read Greenwich pupils

by Grace Lipski

BOOKWORMS at a Greenwich school have won an award for improved reading.

St Alfege's with St Peter's in Greenwich received the Reading Recovery School of the Year Award for "promoting and improving children's enjoyment in reading".

The national award, which celebrates initiatives to improve literacy was presented at the Institute of Education. Headteacher Hazel Burnie told GT: "We are delighted that all our hard work has been recognised. It is a real joy to see our children's enthusiasm for reading and books. We've been focusing on making the process of reading an enjoyable and entertaining activity for children. This involved stronger attention to one-to-one reading classes, group activity reading and community events to promote reading."

She added: "We ran a pyjama party workshop which encouraged families to read to their children at bedtime. We also held workshops designed to support and assist parents in improving their children's literacy skills. We've noticed the raised standards in our school after receiving our SAT results which reflect the vast improvements at the end of each key stage."

Nadine Tate, mum to six-year-old Kia McKenzie is really impressed with her daughter's reading and said: "My daughter has become really confident with her reading and I think she's brilliant. She's reading at a level above her age now and she enjoys the extra lessons. The school really encourages the children to read at home too. We've been reading the Children's Bible, part of the Kitten Club book series at home. We've also got a huge selection of books and go to the library to take more out if we need to."

Five-year-old Dylan Teece has also enjoyed the workshops. Mum Bronwen said: "Dylan enjoyed the pyjama party workshop where they were read to for half an hour with a treat of milk and cookies. The school's really been using lots of schemes to improve literacy and I hope they continue to do this. My son is enthusiastic about reading and finds it fun. He likes to rhyme and finds humour in the language. His favourite books to read when we have some quiet time are Biff and Chip and the Gruffalo."

● Parents got the chance to reverse roles with their children for a recent back to school event at the school. They were invited to take classes with their children on behind the improvements. This has brought about a fun working environment where children are enthusiastic and want to learn. Examples include fair-trade cafes, Victorian days, Olympic-themed events, a living Egyptian museum, building shelters, storytelling days, African dancing, and an international week.

He told GT: "It's great to know that after all the hard work and effort from everyone at Brooklands we have been recognised as the first school in Greenwich to reach Outstanding across the board under the new schedule. We are always looking to improve and continue raising standards, we foster an ethos of encouraging all children to have a go. We are incredibly proud of everything we have achieved but for us this is just the beginning of the journey."

LISTENING HARD: Pupils at Brooklands listen to a story

LEARNING CURVE: Mayor David Grant joins parents and pupils in an IT class a Saturday morning for the third event and had lessons in subjects including geography, singing, music, maths and PE.

They were joined by Royal Borough Mayor Cllr David Grant who said: "It was interesting how after all this time the lessons came back to me and to see how well the parents and children worked together."

Teacher Ana Kinder said: "Back to School Saturday is a fun learning and social event, which gives parents and carers the opportunity to experience a school day with their children. It is an excellent opportunity for parents/carers and school staff to chat."

Police warn residents of new credit card scam

POLICE are alerting royal borough residents to a new credit card scam which has so far been used to defraud at least 15 people.

Victims are contacted by phone by someone claiming to be from their bank, and are told that their debit or credit cards are being used fraudulently to make a number of costly purchases.

The victim is told to call the number on the back of their bank card, but when the victim puts the phone down to dial their bank's number, the suspect, who has not hung up from the previous call, keeps the line open.

The scammer subsequently talks again with the victim, this time pretending to be the bank operator. Then the victim is asked to confirm details including pin numbers. The suspect explains to the victim that the fraudulently used bank cards will need to be placed in an envelope and will be picked up by a courier to be delivered back to the bank.

A taxi firm, unaware of the scam, is called to pick up the envelope from the victim's address. PC Natalie Hilsden said: "If a fraud involves one of your cards, the bank can simply cancel the card - there is no need for anyone to know your pin or collect your card from you. I would urge everyone to stay vigilant".

The MET has produced a comprehensive fraud prevention booklet entitled, 'The Little Book of Big Scams'. The guide provides the reader with advice on how to reduce the chances of them being parted from their money.

Orwell essay competition for young writers

YOUNG people aged between 13 and 18 in the royal borough are being invited to enter a unique essay competition based around George Orwell, the man who wrote Animal Farm, Nineteen Eighty-Four and many more books and essays.

The pilot competition – organised between Greenwich Time, Greenwich Theatre and the recently-formed Orwell Society – will be based on a choice of three of Orwell's best-known essays, 'Why I Write', 'The Spike' and 'Such, Such Were the Joys'.

The essays will be available on the Orwell Society website - www.orwellsociety.com - from Wednesday, August 1, and entrants will be asked to write between 500 and 750 words.

The idea is for them to benefit from Orwell's famed "plain style" of English. They will be asked how the essays affect them personally and how relevant they think they are to modern life. They can also include their thoughts on any of the author's other work they may be reading or have already read.

The three judges will be Orwell's adopted son, Richard Blair; Quentin Kopp, son of Orwell's commander in the Spanish Civil War; and professor Richard Keeble, acting head of Lincoln School of Journalism.

Prizes for first, second and third places will be book tokens and family tickets to Greenwich Theatre shows of the students' choice. The competition, fully backed by the Orwell Trust, will run from the start of the September term until Friday, October 5. Those interested should email their entries to peter@cjournals.demon.co.uk - giving their name, age, full address and daytime telephone number.

Hope and laughter

Legend's daughter launches heritage centre exhibition

LINDA Hope, daughter of Eltham's most famous son, Bob Hope, was in the Royal Borough of Greenwich on Thursday, July 12 to launch the Bob Hope: A World of Laughter exhibition.

She was joined by Jack Peter, Golf Hall of Fame Senior vice president, and council leader Chris Roberts along with friends and fans of the late, great entertainer.

The exhibition, about the life and times of the comedy and golfing legend, is now on display at the Greenwich Heritage Centre at the Woolwich Arsenal.

It has been painstakingly put together by the World Golf Hall of Fame and the Bob & Dolores Hope Foundation, with support from with the Royal Borough of Greenwich.

The exhibition, which is free to the public, will feature over 170 artefacts and vintage imagery which show a side of Bob Hope not seen before in Britain.

Cllr Roberts told GT: "We're really proud of Bob Hope's connection to the Royal Borough of Greenwich and to Eltham, the place of his birth. The exhibition is a great opportunity for local people and visitors to Royal Greenwich to enjoy his enduring legacy.

LEGACY OF LAUGHTER: Linda Hope who launched the exhibition with Jack Peter, Eltham MP Clive Efford, Cllr Chris Roberts and Greenwich Mayor Cllr David Grant

"His influence lives on as one of the true giants of the entertainment world and particularly for us here at the place of his birth at the theatre in Eltham which he saved and which bears his name."

Fond farewell for Miss Macleod after 39 years

CHILDREN at Kidbrooke Park Primary have been saying farewell to head teacher Janice Macleod, who retires this week after five years at the school – and 39 years teaching in the Royal Borough of Greenwich. She started her training locally in 1970, and afterwards taught at local schools including Deansfield, Crown Woods and Gordon primary. She went to St Thomas More primary in 1984 as a teacher, then deputy head and then acting headteacher. She was then seconded by the local authority to two schools on special measures and one on a notice to improve. She has also worked as an associate headteacher for the local authority on the leadership programme supporting new head teachers, and has received a Mayor's Award for outstanding contribution to education and the community. She told GT: "The best thing about being a teacher or a headteacher is the children

– they make you laugh, they constantly challenge you to do things in the best way possible, but they keep you totally grounded. "The biggest change I've seen in my 39 years is the speed with which technology has overtaken – it is the children who are now teaching us!" She now plans to create a Zen garden, join an art class, continue to make greetings cards and make patchwork quilts – and finish all the art projects marked "when I retire".

FIFTEEN-year-old Natasha Sinha will tell her grandchildren that she was the very first person to carry the London 2012 Olympic torch on its televised journey across the newly honoured Royal Borough of Greenwich. "It was amazing, just incredible," Natasha told GT, as she relaxed with her family in Blackheath after the experience of a lifetime at 7.30am on Saturday, July 21. "The run from the Royal Observatory to the middle of the equestrian arena only took about a minute, but I spent about five minutes with the flame because I was the first one and the media wanted to take pictures. "The whole thing was so great and I'm so happy. My mum and dad were the only two allowed at the start but we all had a celebration breakfast near the Cutty Sark afterwards."

Flame followers!

SEEING the torch arrive in General Gordon Square, Woolwich was top priority for Hiedy Neto and her granddaughter Sophia, two. They had moved from Weymouth in Dorset to a new home in the town just TWO HOURS earlier at 7am. "We haven't even started unpacking yet!" said Hiedy. "We came straight here because we didn't want to miss it – it's fantastic and really exciting."

ELAINE Parkinson and her mum Jean from Abbey Wood went to watch the torch arrive at Greenwich – then jumped on a train to Woolwich so they could see it arriving there! "We've got tickets for the three-day equestrian event in the park and the Paralympics – we're big fans," said Elaine. "It's lovely seeing the royal borough decorated like this."

MUM Sam and her daughters Eva, six, and Chika, four, travelled from Plumstead to see the torch arrive in Woolwich. Sam said:

"We got up early because we wanted to see it – it's a one-off experience that you will remember for your whole life."

MEMBERS from the regional Sikh temple handed out traditional snacks which they had made to other visitors in General Gordon Square. Bakhshish Singh Tumber said: "This event is brilliant – it's all about getting the whole of Greenwich together, and having a spirit of oneness."

events - equestrian and modern pentathlon in Greenwich Park, shooting and archery at the Royal Artillery Barracks in Woolwich, and basketball, gymnastics, trampolining and wheelchair basketball on the Greenwich Peninsula.

More than 10,000 athletes are taking part, plus tens of thousands in their support teams. Hundreds of thousands of spectators from all over the world will be coming to London as well. And a considerable proportion of them all will find themselves right here in Royal Greenwich.

So let's all join together and give all our visitors the sort of warm welcome they will remember for the rest of their lives. The eyes of the world will be on our towns and on our parks. Our unique historic buildings will give them a taste of our heritage. If we can show them just how proud of it all we are, and win over their admiration and enthusiasm, then many will be want to return to see more.

And that would have an incalculable affect on our local economy, on jobs, on businesses, and on opportunities for local people of all ages. It's a once-in-a-lifetime chance to put Royal Greenwich firmly on the map, all over the world. And during the Games,

GT will include a special 16-page supplement called Games Extra to help showcase the range of historical treasures and other attractions for visitors to see. The motto of the 2012 London Games is 'Inspire a Generation'. Let us do just that. Let us inspire everyone who visits us so that they can take home warm and lasting memories of our royal borough, and tell their friends and families just what a great place we are to visit.

In the meantime, get ready to enjoy all the atmosphere of living and working in an Olympic host borough. It's going to be a unique time for us all.

Councillor Chris Roberts
leader of the Royal Borough of Greenwich

A day we'll remember

NINETY-two-year-old Winn Robbins, (below), walked up to Eltham High Street on her zimmer frame. "I wouldn't have missed this for anything. It's very exciting and brings everyone together - people have been helping me in every way."

ACCOUNTANT Samuel Atsu came with sons James, seven, and Jude, four. "The kids have loved watching the torch on TV and we felt we should be part of this historical moment. So many good things are happening because of the Olympics and it is giving people good opportunities."

FOOTBALL, gymnastics and swimming are the favourite sports of Jae and Jorja Freeman, eight and four. Mum Dawn said the family from Middle Park Avenue were in Eltham for 7.45am to watch the torch go by. "We wanted to come out and embrace the whole event. It's a once in a lifetime thing and we wanted to experience the atmosphere. It's a real buzz having my children see it going through where they live."

GreenwichHomes

Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 297

How the lettings policy works

Housing applicants are placed within 'Bands' according to the Royal Borough of Greenwich's policy for letting homes. Your band information is on the letter that the Council sent you when you registered, or when your circumstances changed. Property adverts say which band can apply and any other criteria. When all the bids are received, the property is then offered to: For properties advertised for band A and band B - the applicant who has had this priority status for the longest time. For properties advertised for band C applicants - the applicant who has been registered on the Council's list for the longest time.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

1 Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

2 Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

3 Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

GreenwichHomes

Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Important Notice

Changes to the rents and tenancies of some advertised housing association properties.

Affordable Housing

Currently the rent level for the properties you see advertised in Greenwich Homes is significantly lower than full market rents in private sector housing.

From now you will now be seeing some housing association properties advertised for higher rents, up to eighty percent of the market rent. These rents will also include the service charge that you will need to pay for the property. We will use the phrase Affordable Housing on the adverts to help you identify these properties.

Please note the Council will continue to advertise all the homes it owns at the standard rent level.

You can bid for properties advertised as Affordable Housing in exactly the same way as for other advertised properties. If you are successful the housing association may want to check you have enough income to pay the higher rent, whether you are working or on benefits. If you are currently a housing association tenant the rent you pay on your present home will not be affected by this change.

Fixed term tenancies

You will also notice that the tenancies for Affordable Housing and some other housing association properties may now be for a shorter period than the present lifetime tenancies offered by housing associations. The phrase Fixed term tenancy will be used in the adverts to identify these properties. The tenancy details will be explained to you if you are successful when you view the property.

Please think about these changes when bidding for an Affordable housing property and make sure you can afford the home that you choose.

This is what happened to the homes advertised in issue 294

Tennis fever's here!

The first serve towards Wimbledon starts at the City Tennis Club

INSPIRED by Andy Murray's performance in reaching the men's singles final at Wimbledon? Want to see if you could ever reach such heights?

Well, the Greenwich City Tennis Club in Eltham Park South is the place to start.

Its summer programme started yesterday - Monday, July 23 - but there's still time to get involved if you rush to the net.

The park is in Glesk Road, a 10-minute walk from the shops in Eltham High Street, and the current courses continue to the middle of August.

The club provides an all year round programme on the park's four floodlit hard courts and 16 grass courts, and there's a community cafe serving light refreshments.

This summer's range of courses for juniors and adults provide a fun and enjoyable introduction to the game and a no-pressure environment to improve and develop your skills.

Courses are suitable for all ages and abilities with a comprehensive programme focusing on hand eye co-ordination, spatial awareness and the ABCs of tennis - agility, balance and co-ordination.

For the full programme visit www.greenwichcitytennis.com or call 07875 133510 for more information.

Advanced booking is required for all coaching courses and places can be reserved online with payment options by credit/debit card or by post. Book now to avoid disappointment.

Your 'pull out and keep' guide to travel in Greenwich during the 2012 Games

Travel in Greenwich during the Games

In a few days the largest sporting event in the world is coming to the UK – the Olympic and Paralympic Games. The Olympic Games will run between 27 July – 12 August and the Paralympic Games will take place between 29 August – 9 September.

As visitors from all over the world come to Games venues, you can expect roads and public transport to be much busier than usual.

The London Organising Committee of the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games (LOCOG), Transport for London (TfL) and partners have been working closely together to host a great Games and keep London moving.

The information here will help you understand where the transport network will be busiest and how your journey could be affected.

We suggest you keep this pull-out guide somewhere safe so that you can refer to it whenever you need. You can also find more information by visiting GetAheadoftheGames.com.

Thank you for working with us to ensure a safe, secure and enjoyable London 2012 Games for all.

Venues in Greenwich

There are three Olympic and Paralympic venues in Greenwich:

- Greenwich Park will host the Equestrian and Modern Pentathlon events.
- North Greenwich Arena will host Artistic and Trampoline Gymnastics, Basketball and Wheelchair Basketball events.
- The Royal Artillery Barracks will host Shooting, Paralympic Shooting and Paralympic Archery events.

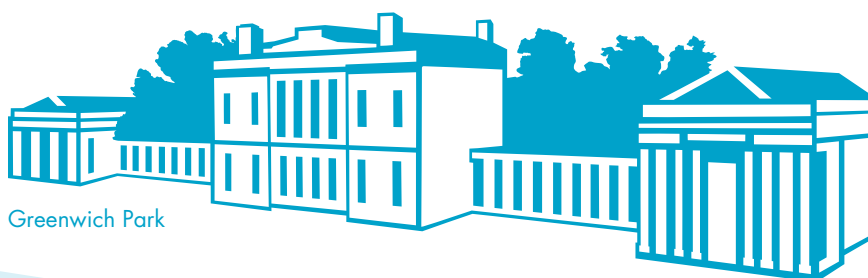

Each venue will operate on different dates and will have its own arrangements for spectators who will mainly arrive in the borough using public transport. For detailed information about each venue and local area traffic management in place around it, please visit london2012.com.

North Greenwich Arena

The Royal Artillery Barracks

Greenwich Park

Traffic management plans

We have put traffic and parking plans in place around each of the venues. These plans prioritise parking for local businesses and residents, manage the increase in traffic and improve safety and security for all. The key points are detailed below.

Greenwich Town Centre

There are daily sessions at Greenwich from mid-morning to around 5pm. The busiest of these is the cross-country event on Monday 30 July, when 50,000 spectators are expected at the venue.

- The introduction of a one-way system in Greenwich Town Centre from 23 July – 9 September. Creek Road will be closed to westbound traffic and Greenwich High Road closed to eastbound traffic
- Closure of Charlton Way to general traffic between 7 July – 6 Sept
- Closure of The Avenue and Blackheath Avenue in Greenwich Park until 1 October

The Avenue will reopen on:

- 8 September for pedestrians
- 8 September for cyclists – two access only between 6am–8.30am and then from 5.30pm to Park closing times
- 1 October to traffic

The Royal Artillery Barracks

- Ha-Ha Road and Circular Way will be closed between 7 July – 19 September
- Repository Road will be closed daily from 6am–8pm between 16 July – 6 August to all traffic including cyclists and pedestrians
From 22 August – 6 September, it will be closed to all traffic but open to cyclists and pedestrians during those times
- No right turn from Woolwich New Road into Grand Depot Road (A205)

North Greenwich Arena

The following will be in place from 27 July – 9 September inclusive:

- No stopping restrictions on Boord Street eastbound
- Access to Millennium Way North of Edmund Halley Way restricted to Games vehicles and Tunnel Avenue access only. All other vehicles will follow diversion
- Right turn from Edmund Halley Way to Millennium Way restricted to all vehicles

The Olympic and Paralympic Route Networks (ORN and PRN)

The ORN/PRN is a network of roads connecting venues, accommodation and transport hubs across London and will be open to all general traffic.

A number of temporary road changes will be in place to ensure reliable journeys for athletes and officials.

In Greenwich, the ORN/PRN will include the use of Blackwall Tunnel Approach, Sun in the Sands roundabout, Shooters Hill Road, Charlton Park Lane, Maze Hill Park Row and Park Vista. These roads will contain a number of measures including suspended bus stops and changes to parking and kerbside restrictions.

Some sections of road on the ORN/PRN will also have a designated Games Lane. These will be clearly signposted and will only be available for use by accredited vehicles including athletes, officials, media and emergency vehicles when in blue light operation. The adjacent lane will be open to general traffic.

Vehicles that load, park or stop illegally on the ORN/PRN will be removed and will face a £130 Penalty Charge Notice (PCN).

To avoid being issued with a PCN, motorists should not drive in the Games Lanes when they are operational. They will be easily identifiable by clear markings on the Lanes and signs along the roadside which will also show the hours of operation.

Parking

During the Olympic and Paralympic Games, a local resident and business parking protection area will be in operation in Greenwich to discourage spectators from driving parking near venues. For more information about how this will operate please visit london2012.com/localaccessandparking or 2012gamesparkingpermits.com.

The temporary parking controls will operate from 27 July – 9 September, between 8.30am–7pm from Monday to Sunday.

Changes to public transport

Some North Greenwich and Greenwich stations and lines will be particularly busy during the Games. You can minimise disruptions to your journey by avoiding these stations at the busiest times and planning your journeys. Some bus services will operate more frequently and some route diversions will also be in place.

Station operations

Maze Hill station

Maze Hill station will have a reduced train service during the Games.

Services to London – A normal morning peak service will be in operation. But no trains will stop between 12.00 and 21.45 during the week, and 12.00 to 20.29 at weekends.

Services from London – No trains will stop between 06.13 and 12.13. A normal evening peak service will be in operation.

Westcombe Park

Westcombe Park station will have a reduced train service during the Games.

Services to London – There will be a reduced morning service to London from Westcombe Park from 07.30 until 09.00.

Services from London – There will be a reduced train service from London Cannon Street.

Charlton station

Charlton will have the same service as usual, but with a few additional services for spectators. Passengers are advised that the station and services will be very busy throughout each day of the Games.

Greenwich station

Greenwich station is a key station serving Greenwich Park.

Southeastern is running some additional services to and from Greenwich during the Games for spectators. To cope with large numbers of passengers, Southeastern and Docklands Light Railway (DLR) passengers will be directed through different entrances and exits than normal.

The southbound DLR platform will be exit-only in the mornings. At other times, southbound passengers must access the station via Greenwich High Road and Waller Way. Northbound passengers will need to enter the station via Tarves Way.

There will be significant queues for both Southeastern and DLR services in the evenings and it will be busy with people changing platforms.

Cutty Sark DLR

Cutty Sark station will be required to close at specific times during the Games, as it does not have sufficient capacity to handle the expected exceptionally high volume of people safely.

The station will be closed following times:

- Thursday 2 August – Thursday 9 August, between 7am–8pm
- Saturday 11 August – Sunday 12 August, from 12pm until end of service
- Thursday 30 August – Tuesday 4 September, all day

Woolwich Dockyard station

This station will be closed from Saturday 28 July – Sunday 12 August.

Blackheath station

Blackheath will operate the usual service with extra services for spectators. Passengers are advised that the station and services will be very busy on Dartford-bound services in the morning and London-bound services in the evening.

Bus operations

There will be changes to some bus routes in the Greenwich area during the Games. In some cases this will mean a more frequent service to increase capacity, the need to use bus stops differently near venues or involve route diversions.

Buses in Greenwich town centre

In Greenwich town centre buses will be diverted eastbound to accommodate a one-way system from Greenwich South Street through Greenwich High Road, Norman Road and Creek Road. Norman Road is not currently served by buses. This change is required to ensure the safety of pedestrians.

This is a summary of some of the changes to services in the area. Full details can be found at www.GetAheadoftheGames.com.

- Routes 120, 177, 180, 188 199 and 386 will be diverted eastbound to accommodate a one-way system in Greenwich town centre and the pedestrianisation of Church Street.
- 199 will be diverted northbound from Greenwich South Street via Greenwich High Road and Norman Road.
- Route 286 will be diverted using Greenwich High Road, Norman and Creek Road.
- Route N1 will be diverted to accommodate a one-way system in Greenwich town centre.

Bus routes in Woolwich

Some buses in Woolwich will be diverted because Ha-Ha Road will be closed while the Royal Artillery Barracks is used as a venue. Repository Road will also be closed on event days between 6am–8pm.

The following diversions will be in place while Ha-Ha Road is closed and the Royal Artillery Barracks is used as a venue:

Route 161 will when Repository Road is open and Ha-Ha Road is closed, the 161 will be diverted via Repository Road.

This means it will serve Queen Elizabeth Hospital but not Grand Depot Road.

This will apply 7–15 July, 7–20 August and 7–19 September.

When Ha-Ha Road and Repository Road are both closed, the route will run directly along Academy Road at Woolwich Common. This will apply 16 July – 6 August and 21 August – 6 September inclusive.

A temporary bus route will operate when Repository Road is closed, to maintain direct links between Queen Elizabeth Hospital and Chislehurst (see route 561 for full details).

Route 178 when Repository Road is open, the route will divert via Repository Road and not use Academy Road and Grand Depot Road. This will apply 7–15 July, 7–20 August and 7–19 September.

When Repository Road is closed, the route will run to Queen Elizabeth Hospital as normal, but double-back via Baker Road as Ha-Ha Road is closed. It will then run via Shooters Hill Road, Academy Road and Woolwich Common. This will apply 16 July–6 August and 21 August – 6 September inclusive.

Route 291 will be diverted due to the closure of Repository Road. From John Wilson Street, the route will run via Grand Depot Road, Academy Road, Shooters Hill Road and Baker Road to reach Queen Elizabeth Hospital. This will apply 16 July – 6 August and 21 August – 6 September inclusive.

Route 386 towards Woolwich, will run to Queen Elizabeth Hospital via Baker Road as normal, doubling back to Shooters Hill Road then through route 244 to Herbert Road if Woolwich Common is closed, or through Academy Road to Woolwich Common, if not. The service will use the same diversions in reverse towards Lewisham.

Route 469 will divert using Repository Road (when open), avoiding Academy Road and Grand Depot Road. This will apply on 7–15 July, 7–20 August and 7–19 September.

When both Ha-Ha Road and Repository Road are closed, the diversion from Queen Elizabeth Hospital will be through Stadium Road, Baker Road, Shooters Hill Road, Academy Road and Woolwich Common.

Route 486 will be diverted through Charlton Park Road and Cemetery Lane. Cemetery Lane is not currently served by buses.

Route 561 will offer a temporary bus service from Chislehurst to Queen Elizabeth Hospital. This service will operate between 16 July – 6 August and 21 August – 6 September.

Bus routes near North Greenwich Arena

At North Greenwich Arena, buses will enter the bus station using Edmund Halley Way, rather than Millennium Way. This change will be required while the Arena is a secure venue. This change will affect route 108 and 188.

Buses in Blackheath

The 53, 380 and 386 are diverted away from Tranquil Vale during the Games.
